1. LETTER FROM THE MANAGING DIRECTOR

In all honesty, at the beginning of 2020, I said to myself: "This will be a fantastic jubilee year, full of positivity, with a pivotal international event in the late fall, a symposium for the 10th anniversary of AIPA at which we will host representatives of all international umbrella organisations for a few days. I had based my optimism at the beginning of 2020 on the business results the year prior, stable revenues and the collection of private copying remuneration, established anew after a decade."

I could not have been more wrong.

The COVID-19 epidemic has cut deep into the fabric of both personal and professional lives. Overnight, we were forced to adopt new ways of working and communicating.

The need for adaptation has stepped into the forefront. Thankfully, AIPA had no problem adapting, particularly thanks to many challenges – even crises – in the past decade, which we have successfully overcome. The key common denominators of successful crisis management at AIPA are the trust and cooperation among the employees and between the board members and the management. I am happy to see that AIPA has both of those deeply encoded in its DNA.

The COVID-19 epidemic has brought about a crisis (which is definitely not only an economic one), and this has, in turn, revealed that companies with focused employees, capable of critical thinking based on professional know-how, and companies that trust their employees without the need for controlling their comings and goings have had no trouble adopting a new way of working.

Because AIPA has been betting on positive communication and building trust among stakeholders since 2010, we were able to adapt to the new reality in a matter of a few weeks. The results are there, and they speak for themselves. We have (again) achieved a record year.

I believe that at some point, the COVID-19 epidemic will be a matter of the past. However, I also believe that the working processes will never be the same as before 2020. Two things will undoubtedly remain: a lot more work done from home or at a distance and a lot less travelling and meetings in person. I hope that the previously mentioned DNA code will remain.

That being said, I also hope that we will cherish more deeply the opportunities for meeting in person in the future.

On that note, I wish you all the best until we meet again!

Gregor Štibernik

2.2 REPORT ON ACTIVITIES IN THE FINANCIAL YEAR

The COVID-19 epidemic, which reached Slovenia at the beginning of the year, significantly impacted the planned activities, particularly events. We were, therefore, unable to organise the traditional expert meeting, which we have been organising in cooperation with the SAA and FERA every March since 2017. Because the situation had not improved towards the end of the year, the only meeting in person was the General Assembly session (and even that on a reduced scale). In contrast, all the other meetings were held online.

AIPA – 10 years

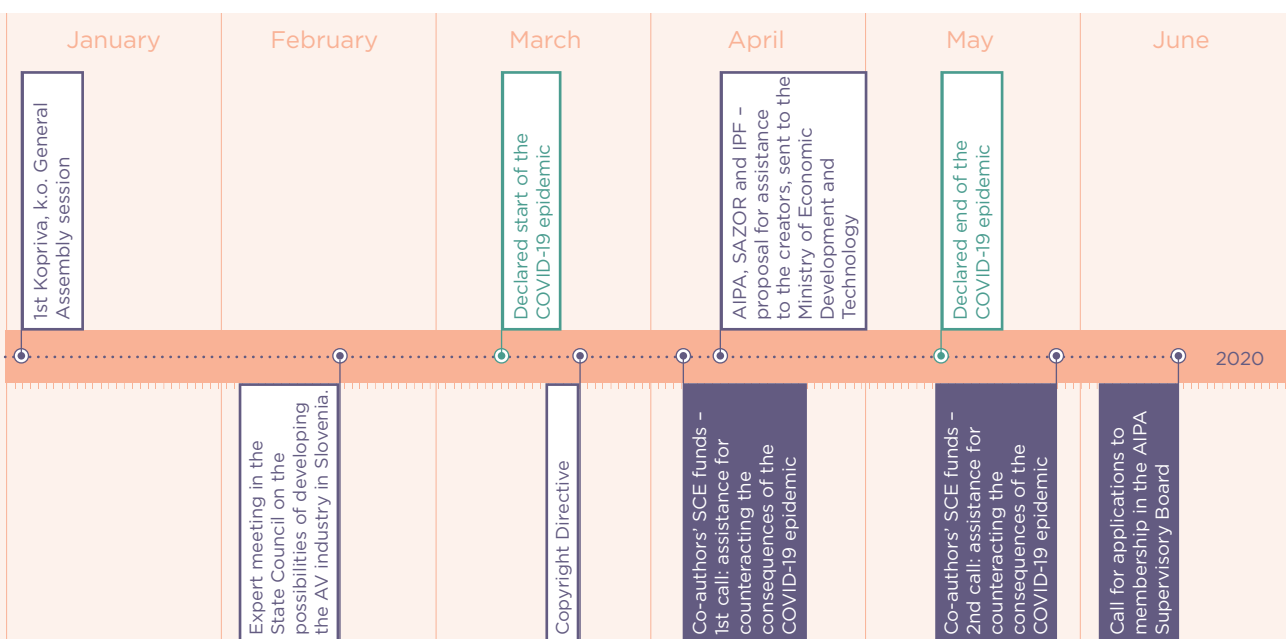

On 11 October 2020, we marked the 10th anniversary of the authorisation granted for the collective management of the rights of authors, performers and producers of audiovisual works.

On 12 October 2020, we hosted a press conference at which the managing director Gregor Štibernik and AIPA members (Klemen Dvornik, Danijel Hočevár and Maja Sever) presented the goals achieved in these ten years and the future challenges.

In light of the 10th anniversary, on 14 October 2020, AIPA hosted an international online conference entitled The Management of Audiovisual Rights in the Next Decade. In attendance were representatives of international umbrella organisations of which AIPA is a member: SAA, AEPO-ARTIS, AGICOA, SCAPR, FERA, and CISAC W&DW.

From 15 to 17 September 2020, we hosted talks with co-authors, performers, film producers, legal experts and administrative employees about the various topics that were the subject of AIPA's activities in its first ten years. Gregor Štibernik hosted the talks. The talks were recorded in printed (a special edition of Megafon, Coffee talks – celebrating AIPA's anniversary) and audiovisual form.

The Directive of the European Parliament and the Council on copyright in the digital single market

The Member States of the EU adopted the Directive on copyright in the digital single market ("Copyright Directive") on 26 March 2019. It was adopted with nineteen votes for and six against (Finland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Poland and Sweden), while three states abstained (Belgium, Estonia and Slovenia). The Member States must incorporate the Directive into their national legislation by 7 June 2021.

Copyright has thus entered the digital age since the Directive calls for fair remuneration for creators and the responsibility of internet platforms. Creators must be fairly remunerated for their work since this is the foundation for further creative work.

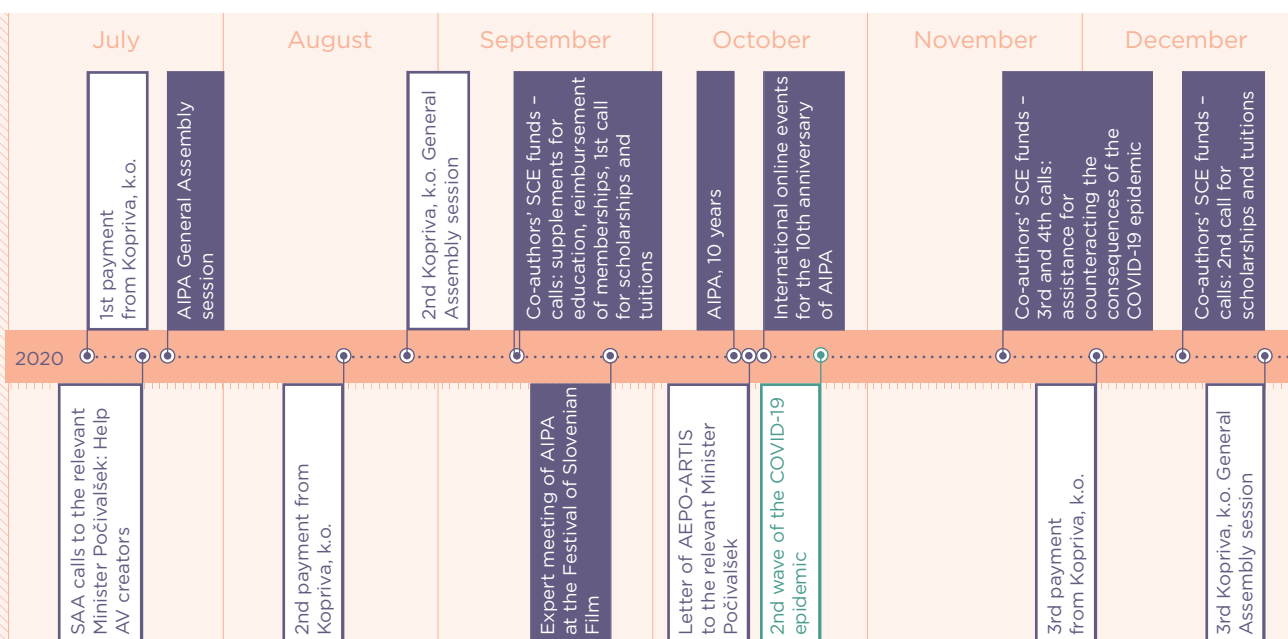

In March 2020, the Ministry of Economic Development and Technology asked the interested expert public to submit written positions regarding the implementation of the Directive (EU) 2019/789 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 17 April 2019 laying down rules on the exercise of copyright and related rights applicable to certain online transmissions of broadcasting organisations and retransmissions of television and radio programmes, and amending Council Directive 93/83/EEC, and the implementation of the Directive (EU) 2019/790 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 17 April 2019 on copyright and related rights in the digital single market and amending Directives 96/9/EC and 2001/29/EC. The due date was 31 March 2020, later extended to 30 April 2020. The submitted positions, including those from AIPA, are published (in Slovenian) on the government website: www.gov.si, tab Novice, Prenos direktiv s področja avtorskega prava (2020-June-5).

No debates, expert conferences or other meetings were organised by the relevant ministry.

Private copying

After a decade, 2020 marks the first continuous collection of remuneration throughout the entire year. This source is a vital stream of revenue for all categories of right holders: actors, producers and co-authors of AV works since they represent 20 % of all revenue.

AIPA has attended the General Assembly sessions of Kopriva on 8 January 2020, 24 August 2020, and 23 December 2020.

AIPA General Assembly session

Due to the measures against the COVID-19 epidemic, there was only one AIPA General Assembly session on 16 June 2020, at the hotel InterContinental Ljubljana, Slovenska cesta 59, Ljubljana.

2.3 REVENUE AND COSTS IN 2020

Revenue

In 2020, the total revenue of AIPA amounted to 5,707,101 EUR, which is an increase of 1,029,832 EUR (22 %) compared to 2019.

The revenue from cable retransmission in 2020 was higher than revenue in 2019 by 99,955 EUR (2.1 %)

In 2020, for the first time, AIPA also received remuneration for making sound or visual fixations done within the scope of private or other internal use. These revenues totalled 930,509 EUR, which is 16.3 % more than planned.

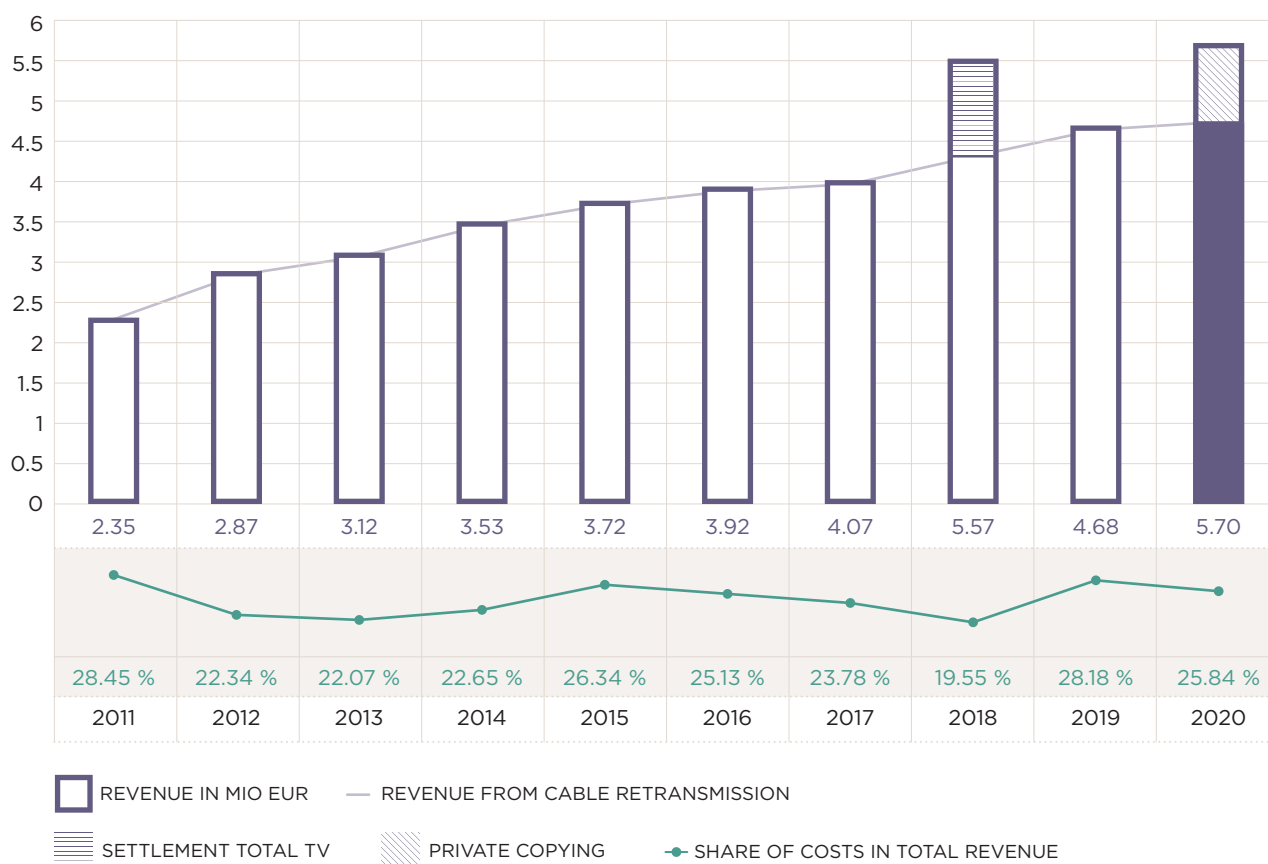

Revenues from deposit interest and other finance or unusual revenues in 2020 were 632 EUR (2.4 %) lower than in 2019. The revenue from deposit interest was 6,448 EUR (38.3 %) lower due to the lower interest rates. However, other revenues have increased for a sum of 5,816 EUR (38.8 %).

Costs in 2020

Business costs of AIPA in 2020, comparable to the costs in 2019, amounted to 1,351,052 EUR. However, we must add the impairment of receivables from an attorney in the sum of 123,592 EUR, which AIPA has done in line with the Slovene Accounting Standards (see 3.4.2.5). The share of costs, together with the impairment, in total revenue amounted to 25.84 %, which is still lower than the share of costs in 2019. Without the impairment, the share of costs in total revenue would amount to 23.67 %.
